A belated Season's Greetings through the President's Transmitter to all collectors and members of the Essay Proof Society. May you have many original finds of artist's drawings, essays, progress essays, die proofs, plate proofs, and even a few stamps throughout the year.

Due to illness, the President has not been around much in the last six weeks and has had very little opportunity to visit clubs or exhibits. Finally a ten day rest in the hospital was advised—and what a rest!

The nurse's aide came in at six A. M. with mouth wash and a glass of luke warm water, and invariably stumbled over a footstool. At 6:45 the nurse came in and shoved a thermometer in the patient's mouth. At 7:15 a nice cold breakfast was served. After this, a nice nap was planned but the bed had to be made and a bath and rub-down given.

At 10:15 the attending physician came in and made a complete examination, followed by two or three of his satellites who wanted to get in on the fun. In the meantime, injections were given every three hours and to make it tough for the nurses, pills were ordered every four hours. So some times the pills and injections collided but were usually delayed 15 minutes just to make it tough for the patient.

Following this a nice lunch of soup and toast was delivered and the patient settled down for a nice afternoon nap. Then the laboratory technician came in for blood tests. And then more injections and more pills and inquiries of "Did you or didn't you," which kept up until dinner was served at five. By this time, some one dropped a tray of dishes in the next room. More pills, more injections and finally, preparations for the night.

It got so when the door opened, the patient didn't know whether it was friend or enema.

Of course, being an attending man at the hospital, it was necessary for the internes and a few nurses and other attending men to stop in every 10 or 15 minutes to inquire as to the patient's health. Then a couple of ambulance drivers and undertakers who had done business with the patient in the past, stopped in and one of them offered to make the patient look very natural and provide a first class funeral.

And at last, to sleep. After sleeping about 30 minutes, the nurse came in, woke the patient up and gave him a sleeping capsule if he thought he was going to need it.

Beautiful rest! After ten days the patient went home, went to bed and slept for 48 hours. It shouldn't happen to a patient, much less a doctor.

Season's greetings.

Clarence Hennen, M.D.

Reviews of Publications

In Western Stamp Collector, December 28, 1948, "Our London Letter," W. Dennis Way (Editor of the Stamp Collectors' Fortnightly) writes—

"Several of you have asked me which American journals are esteemed in Britain. Well, there are the great specialist journals such as 'Collectors Group [Club] Philatelist,' 'American Philatelist,' 'Essay Proof Journal' and your Air Magazine. Then there are the great popular publications such as this (W. S. C.), which has the world's greatest circulation though your publisher modestly only claims in America, and 'Stamps,' and there the list just about finishes. The others rarely have anything worth clipping."

List of the Life Work of G. F. C. Smillie Portrait and Vignette Engraver

By Clarence W. Brazer, D.Sc.

G. F. C. Smillie

George Frederick Cumming Smillie, portrait and vignette engraver (1854-1924), was probably the only bank note engraver to record with date nearly every engraving he executed during his long and eminent productive period of 50 years, from 1872 to 1922. These records are from his own clear handwriting, in two work diaries kindly loaned me by his grandson F. B. Smillie from which to write his biographical sketch published in the Engravers series, Collectors Club Philatelist, July 1948, Vol. XXVII, No. 3, p. 68.

It is seldom that we get an opportunity to identify the engravings on bank notes and stamps of the XIX century or to know the day-to-day work of these banknote engravers. This most remarkable list, in order of production, shows the progress and relative importance of the work entrusted to him from student to master, as his skill developed. Particularly during the first five years he was called upon to drop, sometimes for several days, the engraving on which he was engaged in order to patch, etch, rule, touch-up, or re-enter a previous engraving by another artist, also to engrave minor parts such as ribbons. It also provides an opportunity to estimate the amount of time required, and in many cases the cost, to complete these engravings. His early works, when he was called to work on several different engravings in the same day, are not so accurately recorded, and are thus more difficult to identify, than his engravings for the Bureau when he engraved on only one die, each of which has recorded both the die number and the date of completion. Engravers then worked 6½ hours, six days a week. He seems to have lost little time from engraving because of sickness or travelling absences, and he worked much overtime.

In his later years, as Chief Engraver at the Bureau of Engraving and Printing, more and more of his time was devoted to superintendence and consequently he had less time to devote to his own engraving. Our readers should find much of interest in this list which includes many stamps and bank notes of foreign countries as well as those of the United States, produced by him as Chief Engraver for the United States Government, with a reputation as the outstanding engraver of his time.

The Two Dies of U. S. 1903 Two Cents Stamp

In our JOURNAL No. 1, January 1944, I described and illustrated some of the differences I had discovered between Die I and Die II of the U. S. 1903 two cents stamps, Scott's No. 319. In copying the above list of vignette engravings by George F. C. Smillie, I was greatly interested to find that he had completed die number P. O. 345, known as Scott's Die I, on September 24, 1903. Eight months later, on May 23, 1904, he completed die number P. O. 346, known as Scott's Die II. The difference in size of the dies, 76 x 89mm for Die I and 86 x 85.5mm for Die II, was evidence of two separate dies, but I am pleased now to be able to record the P. O. die numbers, the dates of completion of the vignette engravings and the name of the engraver of the vignette. The design was probably transferred from the first Die I to the second Die II, and retouched. I find a short additional diagonal line in the hair curl near the left 2, Washington's right eye has been retouched with an additional line above the lower lid and inter-dots added between the lines under this eye, and a short additional line above this eyebrow; some of the dots in the highlight on the nose and cheek next the nose appear to have been burnished lighter, and the shadows under Washington's left ear have been darkened.

Alterations to the 1895 Silver Certificates

It is also of interest to note in this list of engravings that the faces of the $1, $2 and $5 Silver Certificates originally engraved in 1894 and 1895 were altered about three years later, in 1897 and 1898, and new die numbers assigned. Numismatists can probably tell us why.

Did counterfeits of these three banknotes cause the alterations to be made so that genuine money might be more readily identified by those who know where to look for the alterations? If they can be found, I would like now to publish descriptions of the differences that may exist in these engravings of the 1896 bank notes.

U. S. Stamp Essay 226E-E

Due to the dimensions of the die sinkage which are peculiar to the shape of the 1894 stamp dies by the Bureau of Engraving and Printing, it has been thought by some that the heretofore unknown portrait essay illustrated in Brazer's Essays for U. S. Adhesive stamps, page 138 as 226E-E without triangles in the upper corners, is a Bureau die essay. This list of G. F. C. Smillie's work apparently so identifies it as the portrait of James Beck, P. O. die No. 48 engraved June, 1894, which is unfinished. Being the first die engraved for this 1894 series of postage stamps it is natural that it has no triangles that were later added to the frame originally engraved by the American Bank Note Co. The essay number should therefore be changed to 263E-A as it was probably intended for one of the two higher values added to the 1890 set of portraits.

Philatelic Museum Inaugural Exhibition

By the Editor

Exterior View of the Building

On Saturday, December 4, 1948 at 8 P. M. the first private Philatelic Museum, at Broad and Diamond Streets, Philadelphia, opened its Inaugural Exhibition and beautiful building to about one thousand invited guests. The building is accessible by the Broad Street subway from all points. The opening was preceded by a cocktail party and dinner given to over one hundred sponsors at the Art Alliance club building as the guests of Dr. Robert L. Johnson, President of Temple University, which will conduct the Philatelic Institute two year course for dealers, writers and buyers of Philately in the building under Dean Robert L. D. Davidson. Among those present from a distance were Lester G. Brookman of Minneapolis, J. Alex Park of Grosse Pointe, Michigan, Albert F. Kunze of Washington, D. C., H. Clay Musser of State College, Pa., Adolph Steeg of Buffalo, and many from New York.

The Philatelic Museum and the Philatelic Institute are the conception of Bernard Davis who gave the building to house them and who is Chairman of the Board of Trustees. George W. Caldwell is President of the Museum; Vincent Domanski, Jr. is Treasurer; P. Harbot Sanville, Secretary; Gustave A. von Gross, Curator. The handsome corner building of red brick and white marble originally designed for a bank in the Georgian Colonial style is opened into an adjoining white former residence on Broad Street, where the Curator and his wife will live on the third floor. The high ceiling exhibition hall, with an observation balcony over the vault with its large circular steel door, serves as an ample well-lighted exhibition room which is extended into the adjoining building through large openings. The opening exhibition cataloged 130 large 16-page light metal frames with about 48 additional frames. The frames are the best looking and most practical and easy to mount and dismount that we have seen. As some of the floor space in the adjoining room was reserved for the reception line and buffet supper served to all present, the full capacity could readily provide for about 62 more frames or a total of about 240 frames holding about 3840 pages when required. Exhibits are planned to be changed every two weeks beginning on Mondays. There is another vault and an auditorium in the basement, with a side entrance on Diamond Street, that has already been used for a philatelic auction. On the upper floors are many smaller rooms of varying size that can be used in the evenings for Philatelic Institute classes and for Study Group Chapters of National Societies. The library on the Broad Street front of the second floor is large, well lighted and furnished with two drawing tables.

As with most museums, there are several classes of membership for those who desire to be patrons, contributors, etc. The regular membership fee of $10, open to philatelists thruout the country and comprised already of over 200, includes free admission to all exhibits, the use of the library and study rooms, a course of lectures in the auditorium which are independent of the courses offered by the Philatelic Institute, and the privilege of inspecting private collections. The collection of Bernard Davis has been loaned to the Museum and is now housed there. The Pennsylvania Museum of Art has also loaned some beautiful tapestries that are hung upon the walls, and many other art objects on pedestals are scattered throughout the building, which is a worthy monument to philately. The vaults are available for collections donated to the Museum which may be placed on display from time to time.

The Inaugural Exhibition December 5 to 19, 1948

The Inaugural Exhibition was staged by forty invited sponsors and members who showed outstanding specialized non-competitive exhibits of from one to seven frames (16 to 112 pages) each. These exhibitors were not charged for the rent of frames or for insurance. An admission charge of sixty cents is paid by adult non-members and thirty cents by juniors. Programs are sold at ten cents. The arrangement was divided into classes for United States, British Empire, Europe, Remainder of the World, General Collections and Specialty Collections. There was also an exhibit of several frames of Proofs of United States postage stamps by the U. S. Post Office Department which was displayed in the main floor vault behind the grille doors. Most of the exhibits shown were selected pages from collections so well known in previous national and international shows that detailed description here is not necessary. Many of these collections contained essays and proofs.

In the United States Section were displayed seven frames of Autographed Presidential Free Franks by Edward Stern of New York; three frames of Essays and Proofs of the 1847 Issue by Clarence W. Brazer of New York; three frames of New York Postmaster's stamps with essays and proofs by Milton F. Cohen of Philadelphia; three frames of 1847 stamps on covers by Henry Gibson of Jenkintown, Pa.; seven frames of U. S. XIX Century essays, proofs, stamps and covers by Donald M. Steele of Jenkintown; five frames of 1862-67 two cents "Black Jacks" with proofs, bisects and cancellations by Ignatz Reiner of New York; U. S. Commemorative mint stamps in blocks by Wilhelm F. Knauer of Philadelphia; three frames of Postal and War Savings stamps by Harry L. Lindquist of New York; two frames of United Nations Conference stamps by Sol Glass of Baltimore; and five frames of Confederate States by Van Dyk MacBride of Newark, N. J.

In the British Empire Section were two frames showing the Development of the English Penny Post 1485-1840 by Rev. William H. Tower of Montclair, N. J.; two frames of Great Britain 1840 stamps by P. Harbot Sanville of Haddonfield, N. J.; four frames of Canada by J. Alex Park of Grosse Pointe Farms, Michigan; two frames of Cape of Good Hope Triangles by John Fite of Haddonfield, N. J.; two frames of Cape of Good Hope Triangles and Mafeking 1900 Issue by Stephen G. Rich of Verona, N. J.; two frames of Hong Kong stamps used in Treaty Ports by Arthur Pierce of Haddonfield, N. J.; two frames of Mauritius Postal Markings by Margaret S. Pierce of Haddonfield, N. J.; and two frames of Union of South Africa 1910-1926 by Stephen G. Rich of Verona, N. J.

In the Europe Section were three frames of France by J. Brainerd Kremer of Montclair, N. J.; five frames of German Colonial Forerunners by F. A. Bickert of Wood Lynne, N. J.; two frames of Heligoland by Ben Reeves of Chicago; three frames of Lombardy-Venetia covers by Jere. Hess Barr of Reading, Pa.; three frames of Montenegro by Dr. Edward H. Lewandowski of Philadelphia; two frames of Norway by Harry L. Lindquist of New York; three frames of Poland No. 1 by Vincent Domanski, Jr., of Philadelphia; three frames of Switzerland 1854-62 by George W. Caldwell of Landsdowne, Pa.; and four frames of an Historical Tableau of Switzerland by G. A. von Gross of Philadelphia.

In the Section devoted to the Remainder of the World were two frames of Mexico by J. D. Woodward of Clifton Heights, Pa.; three frames of Guatemala by H. L. Lindquist of New York; one frame of Uruguay by Horace S. Swarely of Pottstown, Pa.; five frames of Martinique by Ralph Holtsizer of Philadelphia; three frames of Marianas and Caroline Islands by Col. Hans Lagerloef of New York; five frames of Palestine and five frames of Israel by Herman Rudenstein of Philadelphia; five frames of a General World Collection of Postage Due stamps on covers by Bernard Davis of Philadelphia; three frames of Valentines by Van Dyk MacBride of Newark, N. J.; two frames of U. S. and Foreign Christmas Seals, by Vincent Domanski, Jr. of Philadelphia; and an Exhibit of Vatican City by Francis Cardinal Spellman of New York.

There were also about 48 additional frames in the adjoining exhibition room that were not in the catalog. These included several frames of Colombia Air Mail covers by Jacob Glaser of New York and exhibits by several others.

The next exhibition beginning January 16, 1949, is to be staged by the France and Colonies Society, and other National Society Groups will present later exhibitions.

Three U. S. Counterfeit Engravings

The accompanying illustration is from a black impression on soft white cardboard 138 x 180 mm submitted by our member Marcel E. Levy, of Paris, France. The three counterfeits of U. S. stamps of 1881 1 cent, 3 cents and 1883 2 cents are engraved in reverse design on one die with a sinkage of 80 x 115 mm. All three counterfeit designs are about .5 mm less in height than the India paper plate proofs from the stamp plate, and many differences in the engraved counterfeit designs are apparent when compared with the proofs. The engraving of these designs in reverse (the die engraving having the same appearance as the stamps) indicates a possible step in transferring for surface printing.

How Early U. S. Essays & Proofs Became Available

From the Boston Stamp Book, July 1896, we quote from a paper read before the Boston Philatelic Society, April 21, 1896, by F. Trifet who began collecting and dealing in stamps in 1862 and became one of Boston's most prominent dealers. Insertions within [] are editorial.

"At an early period I established friendly relations with the Post Office Department through the Third Assistant Postmaster General. The first I remember was Mr. Zevely [to 1868]; then came [1868-1872] Mr. Terrell; for a brief period [?], Mr. Hazen [1878-1893] and, under Pres. Hayes, Mr. Barber [1875]. Nothing in the way of information, proofs or essays but what I could get through them. In all those years their chief clerk was Mr. Wm. M. Ireland, a liberal minded man, much interested in stamps and Post Office matters, with which he had been connected since the forties. It was through him that in 1876 I was intrusted with the entire government collection gathered by his efforts from all parts of the world. This I arranged in two magnificent volumes, adding to its treasures stamps valued at that time at fully three thousand dollars. When completed I took it to Washington and presented it to Mr. Barber for the Department. He was very much pleased with the magnificent gift and was sorry he could give me in return only some old stamps held as waste paper, and some proofs, and essays, all of which he considered but ill repaid me for my labors. If I had locked them up in a safe and lost the combination until now, what would I have found?

18 sheets of each of the eight values of 1851-60.

120 complete sets of the officials, including all the high value State in sheets.

150 each of the compound envelopes with and without patent lines.

Thousands of all the old envelopes.

1847 to 1869 reprints in sets by the hundred, Essays, Proofs, Specimens, etc., etc.

"Among other things were 183 of the "grill all over" stamps. When I received these in Washington I was told by Mr. Ireland that he gave orders to make two sheets of them and that upon trial of a few specimens through the Washington Post Office, it was found not to work satisfactorily, and the smaller grill was tried and was satisfactory. He assured me that 200 of the 3c were all that were made and no other value was experimented on, or issued, with grill all over. I am not making any claims for or against the "grill all overs," but I must admit that Mr. Ireland's statement made to me in 1877 has more weight with me than all other proofs as yet submitted as to genuineness of many so called grilled stamps."

Government Exhibits of Proofs at IMABA

That Essays and Proofs were amply shown by Government Exhibits at the IMABA International Exhibition at Basel, Switzerland, August, 1948, is seen from a most interesting report by Ernest A. Kehr published in Actividades Filatelicas, Habana, Cuba, for September, 1948, from which we quote the following:

"Egypt: specimens showing all stages of photogravure plate printing. Featured were the steps in producing the special stamp issued to commemorate IMABA—Also all original sketches of the recently issued Cotton Congress stamp.

"In addition to these, there were studies prepared after the original design had been selected by His Majesty, with the finished drawing, color trials and finally, the full printed sheets. Also similar material relating to the new 50 piaster stamp portraying the King, soon to be issued.

"France: Original drawings, die and plate proofs of stamps issued since 1936.

"French Colonies: Similar to France, but augmented by displays of handicrafts from the various colonies.

"Great Britain: The perennial display of the Penny Black dies, proof sheets of this and later stamps including an imperforate sheet of the £1 Royal Wedding Jubilee stamp.

"Italy: A collection of twenty-one original drawings used for postage stamps.

"Yugoslavia: Designs, proofs and stamps of Yugoslavia since World War II.

"Luxembourg: A complete collection of drawings, proofs and stamps issued since 1944 highlighting the 'Homage to the Allies' set and a portrait of the Grand Duchess.

"Netherlands: An extraordinary collection of drawings, sketches, proofs and documents relating to stamp issues of more recent years. This display, together with that entered by Austria, was the most impressive and as all this material came from the Postal Museum at The Hague, philatelists literally were transfixed with the wealth of philatelic source treasures [that] must be in Holland.

"Poland: Die, plate proofs and imperforate sheets as well as unusually interesting adhesives of recent years.

"Spain: An unusual display of proofs, stamps and covers relating to the Don Quixote, Cervantes and Madrid-Manila sets.

"South Africa: Drawings, proofs and stamps of such issues as the 1910 commemorative, the King's Head set, pictorial and Jipex as well as the War issue, normal and baby-size.

"Czechoslovakia: An extraordinary collection of various issues with drawings, proofs and presentation booklets but featuring the Lidice set and special postmarks prepared.

"Austria: The greatest philatelic display ever seen by this writer at any stamp show. In addition to a complete collection of Austrian stamps and die proofs according to the most serious philatelic standards, there also was a display of documents and suggested drawings for the first issue."

London International Stamp Exhibition 1950

At a meeting of representatives of the philatelic press and dealers, at which the Royal Philatelic Society was host, Sir John Wilson, Bt., chairman of the 1950 Exhibition Committee, gave further details of the arrangements made for London's big Stamp Exhibition May 6 to 13, 1950. It will be twenty-seven years since an International Stamp Exhibition was last held in London, and the 1950 show will occupy two and a half times the space of that held in 1923.

The place chosen is the Great Hall at Grosvenor House, Park Lane, where many successful exhibitions have been held, though this is the first time that a stamp show has been housed there.

In comparison with some, this International Exhibition will not be so very large, for the main exhibits will occupy but 1,100 frames and the Court of Honour another hundred. However, this will enable nearly 20,000 album pages to be shown, while the distance that a visitor will walk to make a once-around examination of the show will be nearly a mile. This restriction in the size and number of exhibits has a great advantage, for only the world's finest stamps will be seen, avoiding the weary repetition that has often been a drawback at previous exhibitions.

The dealers' stalls are limited to fifty and there have already been over this number of requests for details, so there is no likelihood of unlet stalls. It is estimated that the whole show will cost £16,000, - £2,000 a day! However, the Royal Philatelic Society and some of its members have already put up a guarantee fund of £10,000, while the dealers are covering the balance of £6,000.

Seventy-eight advertisers have taken space in the Prospectus to be published in January, 1949, which will explain in full the classes in which competitors are invited to participate.

The meeting, which included representatives of all the philatelic press of Great Britain and nearly a hundred dealers, pledged its full support of the Exhibition.

Bermuda: Essays, Proofs and Specimens

The "Caravel" Types of 1910-36

Proofs of this handsome and popular engraved issue are comparatively few in number. They reflect the method of production, which employed master plates for the recess (taille douce) printing.

40E-C

During the 26 years the Caravels were in issue two dies were used (but not for all values). These two dies themselves were without any figures of value. They were used to make the master plate which likewise bore no figures in the value tablets. It was from the master plates that the working plates, i.e., actual printing plates, were made, and on those the various values were engraved by a pantographic process.

To keep the die picture clear, the following summary will be useful:

Die I: Used for all values except the 1½p.

Die II: Used for later printings of the 1p and 2½p, and exclusively for the 1½p.

Following is a similar summary of the master plate picture:

Only one plate was employed for the following values: ½p, 2p, 3p, 4p, 6p, 1sh (all from Die I), and the 1½p (from Die II).

For the ¼p, two plates (unnumbered) were employed, both from Die I.

For the 1p, four plates were employed (unnumbered), three from Die I, one from Die II.

For the 2½p, two plates were used, one each from Die I and Die II (Plate 2 is numbered, Plate 1 is not).

The 1921 High Values of King George V

49E-A

High value stamps were contemplated for Bermuda as early as 1912, although none was issued until 1918. In the former year De La Rue & Co. prepared an essay for a 2 shilling stamp, in the normal small format with a design resembling the St. Vincent issues of that period.

Finally, in common with so many other British Colonies, Bermuda adopted the "stock design" often called the "Nyasaland type," and has continued to use this design for the George VI higher values to date.

The Tercentenary Issues of 1920 and 1921

Bermudians are very proud that their Legislative Assembly is the oldest representative institution in the British Empire, after the British Parliament itself. When it was decided in 1920 to commemorate the tercentenary of the establishment of parliamentary government in Bermuda, the idea of a special set of commemorative stamps was inevitable. During March 1920 the Bermuda newspapers carried invitations to the public to propose "appropriate designs . . . accompanied by a rough sketch or design." The invitation added:

"What is required is not a design but a suggestion which can be worked up into a design." The pronouncement mentioned that two values, 1p and 2½p, were "under consideration."

In spite of these announcements, Bermuda issued not two stamps—but two whole sets of nine stamps each, and there is no record of any essays, at least in private hands, in spite of the open request for them. The design for the 1920 Tercentenary set was provided by the Governor, Sir James Willcocks. That for the 1921 set was by H. J. Dale, working with a committee of the Assembly, the latter body not having been particularly delighted to discover that the first set had been prepared and ordered by the Governor without consulting the legislative body which was to be honored by the postal emissions.

The first set was surface printed, the second set engraved and recess printed, both by De La Rue & Co.

Later Issues

I have no record of essays or proofs of the pictorial issues which appeared in 1936 and which since have had added designs and color changes. The vignettes of the 1936 set were taken from photographs and I have a set of these in my album.

All the pictorials exist perforated SPECIMEN, in "horseshoe" shape. The 1935 Silver Jubilee issue comes perforated SPECIMEN, in a straight line diagonally reading upwards. Any information on proofs of these issues, including the 1941 7 1/2p, will be welcome. I have not seen the 7 1/2p in a SPECIMEN copy.

Any additions or corrections to this article are invited by the author. Much remains to be discovered in this Bermudian field. Some proofs not listed almost certainly exist, but as I have no record of them they do not appear here. My best thanks are due my good friend Morris Ludington for his help and for checking the script, and to another good friend and Bermuda specialist, George Ulrich, Jr. Sources of information consulted are H. R. Holmes' "Bermuda," the Philatelic Journal of Great Britain, the Robson Lowe 1935 Encyclopaedia, and 1941 Regent Catalog. Any communications may be addressed to the author at P. O. Box 1, Haddonfield, New Jersey.

A China Essay(?)

Information is desired by the Catalog Committee about the China trilingual Sun Yat Sen engraved essay (?) illustrated here. The description follows:

Size of engraved design 21.5 x 25.5.

Small die essay on 21 f/2 dull faint o-y-yellow soft wove paper 33 x 37 mm.

39 m/2 dull dusky blue-green.

This engraving has been said to be obviously bogus, but the cost of such an engraving would appear to be too expensive to be profitable for sale to collectors only, as an essay.

Reviews of Publications

Chile Filatelico for May-June 1948 has for its leading article, another excellent installment of "Historia de las Primeras Emisiones de Estampillas Postales de Chile" by Dr. Phil. A. T. Lista, evidently a nom-de-plume. Five of Perkins, Bacon & Co. essay examples of their engravings (only one of which has CHILE letter engraved, and one has the Chalon head of Queen Victoria) are illustrated, as is the 10 centavos large die proof with die impressions of two beautiful geometric lathe designs on the same die. Due to the absence of lettering on these essays the illustrations are valuable for identification; the frames and engravings of each are similar. This magazine may be seen in the E. P. S. Library.

Pims Pacific Stamp Review, New Zealand, for May-June 1948 has an excellent third installment by the nom-de-plume "Layman" entitled "Printing Processes—Relief and Process (Photo) Engraving." This process is very clearly explained in such great detail as to cause doubt that the author is a layman. He quotes from "Modern Illustration Processes" by C. W. Gamble.

Switzerland

Its Essays and Proofs

By George W. Caldwell, E. P. S. 318

I. Official Franks

Free use of the mails by government, in all probability, had its inception in the very beginning of organized government postal service.

The first such service in Switzerland of which we have record was that of the Roman Empire which maintained postal communication with its outposts in Helvetia, Germany and Gaul. This was reserved exclusively for government use, but it is reasonable to believe that for a gratuity, a messenger would accept mail from a civilian.

With the fall of the Roman Empire, Switzerland was deprived of regular mail service for a long time. Religious organizations and travelers appear to have filled the void, after a fashion.

From the 14th Century messengers were employed by several Swiss towns such as Basle, Bern, St. Gall and Zurich. At first their trips were made only occasionally, but in the course of time this service became more frequent and was privileged to civilians.

Economic growth was paralleled by increased need for postal communication. This was met by merchant groups which established their own messenger service in the 16th Century.

With the increasing demand for postal service, we note the respective Cantons setting up such service as government monopolies. In some cases this "cantonal right" was leased to other cantons; and in one instance, to a civilian named Beat Fischer who established a very extensive and efficient postal service in much of what is now Switzerland.

Official Indicia

The use of these government-owned postal services was privileged to civilians. Hence it became necessary to provide some indicia which would enable postal personnel to recognize official mail and transmit it without postal fee.

At first these indicia were very simple in character: the manuscript notation amtlich (official); the official title of the addressee or the sender; the name and rank of an army officer—these and similar indicia served to "free-frank" official mail. One occasionally finds hand-stamped cachets depicting the Cantonal Arms together with a legend such as the Police of Geneva, the Cantonal Secretariat of Luzern and others of like character—all used for free-franking.

Continued economic growth and expansion had its effect in enlarging government's responsibility. Greater controls were required, and the nature of government activities became more complex. Such conditions had much to do—probably all to do—with the centralization of government provided by the Constitution of September 12, 1848.

It is axiomatic that the larger organizations require more routines and controls than do those of smaller stature. Hence, we find under Federal control, expansion in the use of official franks and at the same time an increasing dignity in their form: specially printed envelopes and post cards; other postal stationery; cachets; and eventually, official adhesive stamps.

The army, the post office, and the general administration had their individual forms in some cases.

The Army

Switzerland maintains a standing army, rather unique in form, in that each soldier keeps his uniform and personal equipment in his home and thus is ready for call at a moment's notice.

General military service as well as attendance at rifle practice is compulsory. After his first four months of training which occurs in youth, the soldier, fit for active service, undergoes an annual repetition course.

The Swiss army is modern and efficient in every respect, including well-trained mountain troops with their skilled ski units, an air force, artillery, infantry and associated services. The uninformed might assume that such preparations indicate an aggressive military nation. On the contrary the Swiss, as a nation, are peace-loving; they maintain their armed might simply in an effort to assure their neutrality and a freedom that has been gained by much sacrifice during the centuries.

Army Franks

For official correspondence the army uses specially printed envelopes, postcards, cachets and, in recent years, the general official adhesive stamps. At times, the field-post canceller appears to have served as a frank.

In 1870, at the time of the Franco-Prussian War, the Department issued envelopes for the use of the army stationed at the frontier guarding Swiss neutrality. These envelopes may be identified by the legend Service postal militaire Eidgenossische Feldpost, and the Swiss cross in a sort of sunburst. Space is provided for the sender's name and that of his army unit. White, bluish, reddish, and brownish papers were used in their manufacture.

Envelopes bearing the legend Eidgenossische Feldpost/ Poste de Campagne/ Posta di Campagna appeared in 1889. These were made of brownish-yellow paper.

More recent types are labelled Schweiz. Armee/ Armee suisse/ Esercito svizzero. These are in several colors and in at least two sizes, Model A and Model B.

One occasionally finds other envelope types, for example those used by the Court Martial groups. The inscription Militarjustiz/Justice militaire or similar legend will serve for easy identification.

The postmarks used by the various army units have served as franks on some covers seen by the author.

Army Postal Cards

Postal cards for official use first appeared in 1870. As these were for general use, they were utilized by the army. They are labeled Carte-correspondance/Official and are frequently known as Form 4337, a number which appears at the top of the card.

Coincidentally with the 1889 envelope a postal card bearing the legend Feldpostkarte/ Carte postale militaire/ Cartolina postale militare was issued. Printings in 1889, 1890 and 1891 are listed by Zumstein.⁽⁴⁾

During World War I frequent printings of army postal cards were required. The identification indicia on these may be readily recognized by the inscription noted for the 1889 issue. On all such cards in the author's collection the month and year of issue are indicated in small type on the lower left portion of the card.

With the adoption of official postal adhesive stamps in 1935 the indicia discussed above fall into the category of corner cards and therefore cease to qualify as franks.

Money order forms for exclusive army use and issued in 1889 and 1890 have been listed by Zumstein. The legends Feldpost-Geldanweisung or Militar-Postanweisung will serve for identification.

Neither essays nor proofs of army franks are known to the author.

The Postal Department

Fig. 74

Article No. 90, item No. 4, of the Swiss Postal Laws and Regulations, under date of November 15, 1910, directed that all mail matter of the Director General of Posts, the District Postmasters and Post Offices, that was subject to postal fee as described in Article No. 153 must be franked by means of a cachet bearing the name of the sending office (Fig. 74), or by a special adhesive stamp (Fig. 75).

In compliance with this law such franking has been applied to the non-official domestic mail of the Director General of Posts and his District Postmasters, Controllers, Cashiers and offices of Material Supply as well as by the Postal-Check offices, which according to Article No. 158 are not subject to postal fee.

The cachet is approximately the size of an ordinary postage stamp, and is found with various inscriptions such as Direction/Postes/I, Post Check/VII and similar designations. The Roman numeral is that of the postal district.

Post office personelle are required to use the adhesive stamp (Fig. 75) on all subject-to-postal-fee mail addressed to civilians, unless the envelope bears the imprinted word "Franco." The office canceller with date is used to obliterate this stamp. Apparently the franco designation is considered very important.

This special adhesive stamp is found in several varieties. The first appeared in 1911 and is as illustrated (Fig. 75). This was typographed in black or white wove unwatermarked paper, rouletted horizontally and imperforate vertically.

In 1925 the design was slightly modified by the use of Roman type and a single-line frame. The printing is yellow-green; the circle measures 16.8 mm.

The 1927 issue differs from that of 1925 simply in the diameter of the circle—19.8 mm. The 1943 printing is in green with a 19.0 mm circle.

These three issues were typographed on white wove, unwatermarked paper, in vertical strips of five and were perforated horizontally by use of a line perforator of 11 gauge. The top stamp of the strip is imperforate on its upper edge.

Neither essays nor proofs of these franks are known to the author.

Federal Railways

As a department of the Swiss government the railroad administration is privileged to use the free frank on official mail. Prior to the adoption of special adhesive stamps in 1935, this frank was impressed by means of a rubber stamp or similar device. Thus on covers one finds rubber-stamped legends such as Eisenbahn-Dienstsache/ Service, Service/ Dienstasche, and equivalent indicia. Usually such covers contain the imprinted corner card of the Federal Railways or one of its units such as Berner Alpenbahn.

Notice of Arrival

For use in notifying a consignee of the arrival of merchandise at a railroad station, special postal cards are used. These bear the imprinted postage stamp and are similar to the regular postal cards, except that to the left on the address side, instructions to the consignee are printed. On the reverse are shown source of shipment, weight and other pertinent information.

As these cards are of an official nature one naturally questions the presence of the imprinted postage stamp. In the absence of documentation one must resort to conjecture. It seems to the author that the imprinted stamp is a matter of convenience or perhaps a labor-saving idea. The presence of the instructions to the consignee, appearing on the face of the card, together with the fact that these cards are not sold to the public makes it possible to issue these cards to the railway personelle in such form that the adding of a cachet or a special adhesive stamp, as we noted in the case of the Postal Department, would not be required. While this solution to the question is purely conjectural, it does seem reasonable.

For the convenience of readers who may not be familiar with the foreign languages used, we suggest as identification indicia the heading appearing at the upper left of the address side of these cards: Schweizerische Bundesbahnen, Chemins de fer federaux or Strade ferrate federali.

These postal card notices are used for identification by the consignee and are turned over to the railway employee at the time the consignee obtains the merchandise. Subsequently they are destroyed. As unused copies are not sold nor distributed to the public, they are rarely seen in collectors' albums.

Prior to 1912 ordinary postal cards were used for this purpose, but they contained the "instructions to consignee." In 1919 these were superseded by cards without imprinted stamp. Return to the imprinted stamp policy was made during the following year.

As these cards were used only locally the stamp denominations are the low values, such as 5, 7½ and 10 Centimes. Various printings were made and in all probability one may find these paralleling to some extent the postal card issues as already discussed in this monograph.⁽⁵³⁾

Neither essays nor proofs of such franks appear to be in philatelic ownership.

War Board of Trade

Throughout World War I Switzerland was completely surrounded by warring nations, and its economy, accordingly, very much disturbed. Under such conditions the Department of Public Economy found it necessary to set up a special section, the Industrielle Kriegswirtschaft, or War Board of Trade, for the purpose of exercising industrial control.

In addition to the offices in Bern, control points were established in several industrial centers. These comprised the raw material control in Basel; exportation of embroideries in St. Gall; exportation of woolens, cottons and general textiles in Zurich, and the cotton control of that city.

It was the custom in those days for Federal Departments to deposit their official mail, unfranked, in the most conveniently located post offices, where it was postage-rated and the respective departments debited. The increased volume of correspondence due to the war placed such a burden on the postal personelle that serious delays ensued in expediting such mail.

With a view of easing this burden the War Board of Trade suggested that it be authorized to frank its own mail. This plan was approved and in 1918 the Board was supplied with concurrent postage stamps overprinted "Industrielle Kriegswirtschaft." The overprint was added for the purpose of controlling the use of these stamps.

The Stolz printing plant in Bern typographed the overprint, using settings of twenty-five subjects. Hence, the so-called half-sheets of stamps were run thru the press twice.

(53) Journal 18, page 93 et seq.

The type used on the first printing was so light that the overprint was difficult to see, particularly on the stamps of dark color. This was corrected later by the use of bolder faced type.

These stamps were put into use on July 23, 1918 and were demonetized as of the close of business on May 15 of the following year. The idea proved to be very satisfactory and the thought of using it for all Federal Departments was given consideration, but the signing of the Armistice terminating hostilities caused the matter to be dropped.

Essays & Proofs

Proofs of this overprint are not known in philatelic ownership. There is, however, a very interesting essay (Fig. 76) which was prepared by Stolz while the overprinted stamps were in use.

This was submitted by the Director with the thought that it would not be so easily counterfeited as the one then in use. In view of the signing of the Armistice in November 1918, the project was not pursued.

As only two half-sheets of each of the eight stamp values were overprinted, not more than 100 complete sets can exist.

CHARLES HEATH, engraver. Born 1787; died, November 18, 1848. A noted engraver of book illustrations, but also the engraver of the die for the Penny Black stamp and therefore the first man to undertake stamp engraving. Some authorities state that this particular engraving was the work of Heath's son Frederick, who was thirty years of age at the time. Both father and son were contemporaries in the employ of Perkins, Bacon and Co., to whom the task was entrusted, and the opinion of that firm is that the work was done by Charles Heath.

Essays Versus Proofs

By the Editor

When a new publication is born it is usual for the editor to announce the standards that he aims to follow. Consequently in the Essay Proof Journal No. 1, January 1944, were published Definitions of essays, proofs, etc. so clearly stated, and so broad, that the amateur may draw the line between them. Experts and the inexperienced may split highbrow hairs and argue on either side of this line for mixed process printings, but from 25 years experience in studying and cataloging we believe this clear demarkation is essential to amateurs.

Essay: any design, or part of a design, essayed to or produced by a government (or established mail carrier) for a stamp and differing in design in any particular from an officially issued stamp.

Proof: any impression (not a stamp sold to the public) from an officially approved design die, plate or stone, or from a new plate made from the approved die in which the design is exactly like the stamp as officially sold to the public regardless of the color, kind of paper or material on which it is printed, or any experimental treatment to which it is subjected, and not used on stamps sold to the public. Proofs were not sold to the public.

In Journal No. 14, April 1947, there was also published "Varieties of U. S. Essays & Proofs," which contained some of these definitions, and others, revised from an immature paper written from only twelve years experience as read at the First American Philatelic Congress in 1935, by this author. These revised definitions are similar to those published in "Essays for U. S. Adhesive Stamps," published by the A. P. S. Committee in 1941, which follow.

Essays

If the design is different, in any particular, from the design sold as a stamp, it is an essay.

Proofs

Any print, not a stamp sold by the Government, printed from an officially approved design die or plate at any time during the existence of the die or plate, is a proof, no matter in what color, or material upon which it may be printed for experimental purposes. All essays and proofs are printed only by the proof printer, or proofer, on a hand press.

The earliest American definition of an essay found is in the 1865 A. C. Kline's Philadelphia Catalog "The Stamp Collector's Manual" which contained the following definition, which is practically the same as has been used in America for over 83 years. "The term 'Essay' means a stamp having accidental difference from those used, or has been suggested by the designers, but not adopted."

In the United States, Canada, Great Britain and probably elsewhere (including all stamps produced in these countries for other countries) the completed design of government money, securities and stamps must be proofed and officially approved by the issuing authority, as a guard against counterfeiting, and may not be altered or changed without official authorization. Proofs printed from the completed plate are officially certified and filed as records by which counterfeits may be compared.

Consequently there can be no such thing philatelically as a "progress proof" of incomplete states of a stamp design. Any incomplete design is not exactly like the completed and finally approved design of the issued stamp, and being incomplete it cannot be a proof but is a progress essay design which may be changed, and frequently is, prior to final approval of the completed design. The incorrect use of "progress proof" for "progress print (or impression)" has led to much confusion. Of course there cannot be any such thing philatelically as a "die proof of an essay"; it must be either a "die essay" or a "die proof."

WILLIAM MULREADY, artist. Born at Ennis, Co. Clare, 1786; died, London, 1863. Well known for his work as an Associate of the Royal Academy, but to philatelists he will be remembered as the designer of the covers and envelopes issued in 1840—the Mulready envelopes that created a sensation on their appearance and which were the subject of many caricatures.

Another Canada 1898 Map Essay?

By the Editor

85E-AA

In JOURNAL No. 18 we reproduced four essay designs for the Canada 1898 Map Stamp from an article by the late A. S. Deaville formerly in charge of the production of postage stamps for the Canada Post Office, as previously published in the London Philatelist.

Recently a pair of photographs of another drawing were acquired at a Billig and Rich, N. Y. auction sale and divided by our member Judge William R. Horney and W. Webster who has kindly sent the photo for illustration in our JOURNAL.

Why did M. Deaville not include this design in his article? Was it because of the 3 cents value, probably an early design before the decision reported by the Canadian Philatelic Weekly of Nov. 19, 1898⁽¹⁾ to reduce money rates to certain British Dominions on Christmas Day? It would therefore appear that this 3 cents design was earlier than the 2 cents designs, although the same article then reported that "several sketches are under consideration." Mr. Green's adopted design was drawn in October and reported as adopted by Nov. 26, 1898. This 3 cents drawing, of which the Canada Post Office Department has no record, is expertly drawn in ink line and wash but the so wrongly called "Gothic," or stick, lettering and "stiff" design indicates another artist's hand from those previously illustrated. This 3 cents drawing appears to be by the hand of a different artist experienced in stamp design but not so artistic as the first three "softer" and more correctly Gothic style essays previously illustrated. Only the longitude lines on the hemispheres are not correctly spaced. The inclusion of the small Mercury's caduceus in three of the five designs, however, indicates that the designers were in contact.

American Philatelic Congress At Reading, Pa., November 12-14, 1948

The 1948 American Philatelic Congress was held at the Abraham Lincoln Hotel in Reading, Pa. from Friday, November 12 to Sunday the 14th, 1948. The large excellently lighted ball room housed the Exhibition of 493 frames of six album pages each, and sixteen dealers had large booths on all wall sides of the room. The local committees were very efficient, and were cordial hosts.

In the United States XIX Century Section, 1869 essays and proofs were displayed by John E. & Richard P. Larkin and Clarence W. Brazer, and 1862 "Black Jacks" including proofs by Charles F. Moyer and Ignatz Reiner. The Brazer exhibit of eight frames of selected 1869 Essays & Proofs, although entered "Not in Competition" was given a "Special Award." The Larkin exhibit also received an award in this section.

Bi-color Meeting Notice Post Card. Heading and border in red.

Meeting of October 13, 1948. Members present, Altmann, Dr. and Mrs. Brazer, Adams, Brooks, Bruns, Ehrenberg, Gros, Hinman, Rasmussen, Wray; visitor, J. F. Connor.

Franklin Bruns, our first exhibitor, showed his highly specialized collection of two volumes based on nine stamps of Panama of 1906 to 1907, which won the Gates Trophy at Detroit. Here were the original drawings for the vignettes of the 1c Balboa, 2c Cordoba, 2½c Coat of Arms, 5c Arosemena, 8c Hurtado, 10c Obaldia, 25c Herrera, 50c Fabrega, etc., as well as numerous drawings of essays and accepted designs for frames. This was a maximum collection of varieties with no possible combinations of colors or transposition of frames and vignettes omitted, in perforate and imperf. condition, normal and inverted, with and without specimen overprints. In the case of the ½c stamp which was issued with the flag in colors, numerous blocks and pieces were present with separate registrations of colors of the sections of the flag, inverted sections, misplaced impressions, etc. There were die essays and die proofs in all combinations of vignettes, frames and colors. This collection of "nine stamps" is the realization of the dreams of most essay and proof collectors as to completeness of colors, combinations of frames and centers, and the abundance of inverted centers.

Solomon Altmann, who received a Second Award at Detroit, showed U. S. Essays and Proofs, with Columbians in vertical strips of three and in large dies on thin cards; Carriers, small die, plate and Atlanta trial color proofs and singles and pairs of reprints on various shades of papers; the 1851 issue, small dies, plate and Atlanta trial colors; the 1861 1c specialized with essays, trial colors and die proofs, which also was the set-up for the 2c Jackson and the 3c 1861, outstanding in this issue being a set of the 1861 small die proofs of the rare 1915 printing, one of the only four sets existing in the hands of private collectors; 1861 complete in plate blocks of 4 on India, and various sets of the Atlanta trial colors of this issue; also some nice 1869 items with a complete sheet of small die proofs from the 1903 album as issued. He also gave a preview of his Newark exhibit of the 1870 to 1882 issues in blocks, die proofs, etc., including the rare 1915 printing of small die proofs. The speaker then presented his project of listing for possible publication the engravers and designers of all U. S. stamps as gleaned from the widely distributed works of various students of the story behind the stamp, for which he received the approval, encouragement and commendation of all present.

Julian Gros, our last exhibitor, showed his display of the 1861 issue which received the "Second Time" Brazer Trophy II at the Denver show, beginning with the essays, some of which resembled the 1851 issue, in various stages of development. There were the premiers gravures plate essays complete with the addition of various shades; large die proofs of 1861, including the rare pink shade; various SPECIMEN overprints on stamps including those with numerals; color trials on starch surfaced paper of the McDonough patent; 1c in trial colors of the Wykoff patent in fugitive inks; a set of Atlanta trial color plate proofs in all colors; plate proofs on card and India; also 1903 printing small die essays of premieres gravures and regular issue proofs, and the rare 1915 printing small die proofs of the premier gravures essays of 1861.

Meeting of November 10, 1948. Members present, Altmann, Blanchard, Brazer, Brooks, Finkelburg, Gros, Holton, Meurer, Morris, Perry, Rasmussen, Rich; visitor, J. F. Connor.

Chairman Gros opened the meeting with an announcement of the recent death of one of our members, Berthold Ehrenberg, who never failed to be present at Chapter meetings and who had an abounding interest in the exhibits and proceedings. All members present stood for a moment with bowed heads in tribute to Bert, whose beaming personality and friendship will long be missed in Chapter No. 1. Our heartfelt sympathies are extended to his family.

Dr. Brazer, upon request, made some comments on the coming Philatelic Congress and Exhibition at Reading, Pa.

As our first exhibitor of the evening Dr. Brazer showed his selection of U. S. 1869 essays and proofs to be displayed at Reading, starting off with a group of essays by George Jones with portrait of General Grant, probably prepared in the Bureau at Washington. Of the stamps produced by the National Bank Note Company no finer collection exists, containing such items as progress die essays, completed die essays, essays in plate blocks of 4 and large blocks, including interesting items in connection with the 30 cents Surrender of Burgoyne essay which was rejected, as a gesture of friendship to Great Britain. Dr. Brazer described the vignettes of this issue as the "greatest miniature engravings ever produced on stamps." Of the accepted designs there were numerous large die proofs in various shades, plate proofs in blocks and multiples, and Atlanta trial colors. The most striking items, however, were the many unique and beautiful die essays on tinted and figured surface safety paper and those with colored numeral overprints, and the inverts including a block of 4 of the 15 cents. There were also shown SPECIMEN overprints on cardboard proofs of the 1879 printing which were extremely rare. Dr. Brazer added his instructive comments throughout the exhibit.

Dr. Julian Blanchard, our next exhibitor, showed the Thomas Morris trophy he had won recently at the Stampex Show at East Orange, N. J. for his collection of stamps and bank notes with stamp designs, which was then displayed and discussed. Some of the highlights of this exhibit were bank note dies identical (save for trimming or retouching) with those for the 1842 Grieg's City Despatch Post stamp, 1845 New York Postmaster's, U. S. 1847 issue, 1851 Eagle Carrier, 1863 "Black Jack," and for two essays for the U. S. 1851 3c stamp, one by Bald, Cousland & Co. and another by Draper, Welsh & Co. There were also several identical dies for U. S. Fractional Currency and Revenues (Tax Paid), as well as numerous examples of closely similar dies for notes and stamps.

Thomas Morris, whose varied collections of essays and proofs have won highest honors at national and international exhibitions, showed his latest, the Brazer Award which he had just received for his exhibit at the Detroit shows following which he showed his collection of die proofs of the 1908 issue which won this award. Beginning with the original model, there followed large die proofs approved by the Postmaster General, large die progress essays, die proofs in various shades and colors and on various hues of experimental papers, and a large die proof "reprint" of the $1 in carmine from the F. D. Roosevelt collection. Included was a set of the rare 1915 printing small die proofs of the 1912 to 1914 issue.

Meeting of December 8, 1948. Members present: Altmann, Blanchard, Dr. & Mrs. Brazer, Brooks, Esternaux, Gros, Holton, Meurer, Rasmussen, Rosell; visitors, J. F. Connor, Johannes De Kruyf.

The meeting was opened with a brief talk by Dr. Brazer on his experiences at the recent opening of the Philatelic Museum in Philadelphia.

Attention was called to the fact that the next meeting would be irregular as to time, taking place on the 4th Wednesday in January.

A motion was made, seconded and carried to make a donation from the Chapter's funds to the Collectors Club, also a gift to the Superintendents of the Club building, Mr. and Mrs. Hillyer.

Mr. Johannes De Kruyf, our guest speaker and well known authority on the stamps of Netherlands and Colonies, opened his exhibit with comments on the essays and proofs of this group, and called attention to the fact that very few proofs of these countries subsequent to 1900 exist in private hands, except some unofficially obtained from printers during the recent war years.

First shown were proofs of the second issue with portrait of William III, of which only two sheets were printed. Of the third issue, there were shown essays privately printed without solicitation of the Netherlands Government of a type similar to the 1867 issue. There were also shown imperforate stamps of the regular 1867 issue sold exclusively to Moens, one of the pioneer stamp dealers of Europe. Next were photolithographic essays of the 1867 type, and then color essays made in 1868, not identical, but of the same general design as the 1867 issue.

There followed samples of the work of several printing concerns in the designs of 1867; 1869-71 issue plate proofs; 1872 issue color proofs prepared in Berlin and in Haarlem; 1876-94 issue newspaper stamps, proofs and specimens; an essay for the 1876 telegraph stamp without value indicated; and a set of 9 large die proofs of the 1913 Jubilee issue in the selected colors.

Also shown were Dutch Indies, 2nd issue Haarlem printing proofs; proofs of the 1905 overprint of "10 Cents" in several colors on actual stamps; 1913 Queen's portrait issue proofs, set of 9 in normal color; occupation period essays and proofs printed in Batavia; Curacao 1873-89 issue, proofs of Berlin printings; 1889 numeral issue proofs; and occupation period essays and proofs printed in Batavia. A Surinam display followed closely that of Curacao.

John Meurer, our next exhibitor, showed a beautiful set of envelope die proofs of the 1874-94 period, of which very few sets are known, consisting of some 33 varieties printed in the center of small sheets of regular envelope paper of about 3 x 4 inches. He also exhibited some Red Cross seal die proofs. Also shown was a rare photo-illustrated copy of Mason's Essays for United States Postage Stamps.

Dr. Blanchard showed an engraving, in proof, by Robert Hinshelwood of Asher B. Durand's painting "Sunday Morning," a bank note proof by Durand, Perkins & Co. containing an error in spelling (an essay) together with a proof showing the error corrected, and some other items relating to bank note engravers.

Mohawk Valley Chapter No. 3

David H. Burr, Chairman

Willard W. Davis, Secretary

A meeting of the Mohawk Valley Chapter was held November 30, 1948, at 8 P. M. in Room 7 at 246 State Street, Albany, N. Y., following a dinner at Nichalaus's Restaurant.

Members present were Albert P. Bantham, David H. Burr, Willard W. Davis, George N. Malpass; visitor, Charles H. Baldwin, of Schenectady.

The application of Charles H. Baldwin for membership in the Chapter was presented by the Chairman and by vote unanimously accepted.

The incumbent officers were reelected to their same positions for the ensuing year.

It was voted to hold the next regular meeting on Thursday, January 6, 1949. Mr. Baldwin thereupon invited the members to meet at his home, 1120 Howard St., Schenectady, and his invitation was accepted with the thanks of the Chapter.

Notification of the resignation from the Chapter of Fred H. Durfee of Gloversville and Rollin H. Thomas, Jr., of Albany was read by the Secretary.

A communication was read by the Secretary from James E. Lobinger of Troy stating that as he was president of the Troy Stamp and Coin Club which was holding its annual banquet on the same evening, he was unable to attend this meeting of the Chapter as a guest, but that he would attend our next meeting.

The Secretary advised that he had been appointed a member of the Publicity Committee of the Essay Proof Society by David Lidman, chairman of this committee, and that he had been requested to send to Chairman Lidman a copy of the meeting notices and the minutes of all meetings of the Chapter.

The members were then entertained with an exhibit by our new member, Charles H. Baldwin, who showed among other things a Mulready 1 penny unfinished essay, a first day of issue 1 penny wrapper postally used, an essay in green of the 2 penny wrapper submitted in 1837 to the London District Post by J. Dickinson, engraved by Charles Whiting, on Dickinson silk thread paper, several "rainbow" trial color proofs of the Penny Black, a page from the London and Westminster Review of 1839 showing an entry of Robert Sievier in the Treasury Competition, also a Harwood design and several essays by Charles Whiting in this 1839 contest.

The meeting was adjourned at 10:45 P. M.

Tulsa Chapter No. 5

D. O. Barrett, Chairman

Hazel Coombs, Secretary

Meeting of September 3, 1948. All members and several guests met at the plant of the Morgan Engraving Co. for a conducted tour through their plant. Mr. J. E. Edmonson, of the Engraving Company, acted as host. He explained in detail the process of photo-engraving, which was found particularly interesting in comparison with the steel plate line engraving that had previously been studied in connection with bank notes.

Following the tour the meeting was adjourned to the home of Glen R. V. Griffith. In a short business session the minutes of the June meeting were read and approved.

G. C. Nordstrom made an interesting report of his Chicago trip to the Swedish Centennial celebration. Several members showed some new bills which were examined and discussed.

The meeting adjourned at 11:00 P. M.

Meeting of December 3, 1948, at the home of T. G. Laney, 2416 East 25 Street. Members and guests present: Mr. and Mrs. D. O. Barrett, Mr. and Mrs. T. G. Laney, Mr. and Mrs. G. C. Nordstrom, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Morgan, Miss Katherine Sheehan, and Miss Constance Eirich.

Chairman Barrett, in a more or less humorous vein, called attention to a paragraph in Roger V. Devlin's column "The Rambler" in a recent issue of the Tulsa Tribune stating that "Only three persons not presidents of the United States have had their portraits on U. S. currency. They were Franklin, Hamilton and Salmon Chase." He reported that he had promptly corrected the writer, having sent him a list of 47 or more persons not presidents whose faces had adorned paper money. Whereupon it was voted to invite columnist Devlin to attend the next meeting of the Tulsa Chapter as a guest—for further enlightenment.

Mr. Barrett showed some new books and folders for displaying bank notes and members exchanged opinions as to how this could best be done. He also showed specimens of colonial currency, bills of exchange, and papal documents.

Some interesting currency was displayed for sale and some purchases made by members.

Carl Morgan, of the National Bank of Tulsa mailing department, made an interesting talk on stamps, and T. G. Laney showed from his splendid stamp collection.

The next meeting of the Chapter was scheduled for March 4, 1949, at the home of Miss Constance Eirich, 3159 South Madison Street.

Other Chapters

A report from Dr. Clarence Hennan for Chicago Chapter No. 2 states that the members have not met for some time in a Chapter session but have exhibited essays and proofs from time to time in connection with other collections at the meetings of the Collectors Club of Chicago. Arrangements are being made by the Collectors Club to have an Essay-Proof night either in February or March and it is anticipated that at that time there will be exhibits by some of the Eastern members of the Society.

George W. Caldwell reports that Philadelphia Chapter No. 4 has been dormant during the past summer and fall, but now that a meeting place in the recently opened Philatelic Museum appears to be available it is planned to resume meetings there very soon. It is also planned to resume the program of exhibiting at other clubs in the vicinity in order to acquaint their members with Essay and Proof collecting.

Obsolete Bank Notes
Of Philatelic Interest

Historically minded stamp collectors are more and more becoming interested in this fascinating sideline. For such collectors there are available:

Notes with vignettes from the identical dies used later for stamps.

Notes with designs copied from the same sources as designs on stamps.

Notes with the imprint of all the stamp producing companies, and their predecessors.

Notes having vignettes with the engraved signatures of famous engravers, as James Smillie, Asher B. Durand, Freeman Rawdon, George W. Hatch.

Notes with pen and ink signatures of important personages, for autograph hunters.

Notes with designs that were later copied for Civil War patriotics.

Immaculate and beautiful proof notes, with philatelic designs.

Something for those with a pioneering spirit, who like to depart from the beaten path.

Inquiries invited.

CUTTING CORNERS

is not recommended where stamps are concerned.

And cutting corners when selling your collection at auction is also a very bad policy.

Many collectors mistakenly believe they should select the auction house with the lowest commission charge. But take just one example: Auctioneer A charges 20% but he has more and better buyers and your collection realizes $1500., netting you $1200. Auctioneer B charges only 15% but gets 10% less for your stamps ($1350) so that you net $1147.50. The moral is obvious. In stamps, as in everything else, you get what you pay for.

If you want the highest possible price for your stamps join the host of wise collectors who have used our auction service. Their names are legion and they have not regretted their choice.

Our booklet "The Story of a Stamp Auction" is yours for the asking, but kindly include return postage with your request.
